

Dear Parent/Carer,

It has been a week of celebration and learning about the richness and diversity of Black cultures here at Cambridge School. Our school is a diverse community and we respect and value every member of it, from every background and heritage. Black History Month is always an important time as we look into the past and look forward to a future where the massive contributions to our country's success from Black communities are given proper recognition. To that end, the school has benefitted from workshops on Black music throughout history up until now, workshops on sorrel and how to turn it into a nutritious healthy drink and the most scrumptious Black history lunch feast which was delicious with a capital D! The whole school ate together to share the scrumptious tastes and flavours. Classes have been learning about key figures who have helped to fight for equality, freedom and justice. Many thanks to Lecia Laidlaw, Giles Craig, Jennifer Desagurante, Steve Reid and Tianna Tulloh amongst others

Another major event this week was the visit to the school by Blink Dance Company who ran workshops for our learners with sensory needs and leadership in dance workshop for some of our most talented student dancers. An ex-pupil from Cambridge was one of the workshop leaders and this was truly inspirational for our learners as they could see what success looks like if you try hard and work hard! It has been a festival of creativity at Cambridge this week.

Finally, food vouchers are being sent out for all those who are eligible. Have a wonderful holiday.

Yours sincerely,

Alan Campbell
Headteacher
