Friday 25th February

Dear Parent/Carer,

Staff and students have returned to school with energy and enthusiasm after the half-term break and Spring is definitely on its way! I will be writing to you next week in detail about our new Covid Risk Assessment in light of the government's wider lifting of restrictions in society. However, the Department for Education advice and guidance for special schools is that we should continue to test twice weekly. We will comply with this guidance for the moment, so testing will continue in school for the next few weeks. I would urge those of you who test your child at home to continue to do so until further notice and email the result to covid@cambridge.lbhf.sch.uk.

We have brought back assemblies as of today and as I write Pod assemblies are happening in the Hall. The students are very excited to have these shared public events back where we can come together to share successes and celebrate achievements as a community. The theme of this week's assembly is fairness so please ask your child what they learned about this important topic.

We have been on a drive to improve uniform across the school, but particularly in Green Pod. This has been a positive experience so far with dramatic improvements already evident. We now need to be consistent, insistent and persistent about this. If any of you are struggling to buy a uniform, please contact us at school and we will be delighted to support you.

Finally, this week, I can announce that parents and carers are invited into school for the performance of Easteranna and the Golden Egg on FRIDAY 1ST APRIL. Watch this space for further announcements about the times of the performances, but keep that date free!

Yours sincerely,

Alan Campbell
Headteacher
