Friday 9th September 2022

Dear Parent/Carer,

Our successful first week back at school has been overshadowed by the sad news of the death of Queen Elizabeth II yesterday afternoon. We want all of our students to be active citizens and to understand the world around them. Therefore, I will be conducting assemblies this morning to help them process the news of the Queen's death and to understand why this is such a significant moment for our nation and why so many people will be grieving and feeling so sad at the loss of our monarch. I want all of our students to experience what the country is feeling and to participate in history.

Despite the heavy showers, it has been a sunny and bright start to the term within the walls of Cambridge School. Students have returned with a positive attitude and are glad to be back in school. The vast majority have settled in to their new classes and are forming strong relationships with their peers and the class teams. We have a fantastic exams story to share with parents and I will be publishing exams results in next week's newsletter once the final results have been confirmed.

I want to end this week's newsletter by focusing on the strengths exhibited by the Queen; a sense of duty and dedicated leadership and service to the nation. These are the values that we should all be aspiring to as staff and students at Cambridge School. The respect and admiration she garnered was so well –deserved and should be an inspiration for all of us as we strive for excellence.

Yours sincerely,

Alan Campbell
Head Teacher
