Friday 25th November 2022

Dear Parent/Carer,

Last Friday the school came together to celebrate Black Culture in a festival of food. Eating and celebrating together as a community is always life-affirming and it was a joyously delicious experience. Our new chef, Joanne Elsenait and her team showcased their talents, and staff and pupils were grateful.

Please check your Parentmail account for letters regarding Parental Workshops on dealing with challenging behaviour at home. There is an online workshop on Tuesday next week run by our Lead Behaviour Mentor, Steve Reid and a face to face session in school on Wednesday from 4 to 5pm run by Kendall Jones, one of our Learning Mentors. Hopefully, you can network with other parents and carers to share experiences and learn new positive strategies and solutions.

The admin team are contacting parents and carers to find out whether you want an in-person meeting or a Teams slot online for Parents' Evening on Wednesday 30th November. School will start later on Thursday 1st December at 10am to compensate for the late evening on Wednesday.

Have a great weekend!

Yours sincerely,

Alan Campbell
Head Teacher
