

Dear Parent/Carer,

I am going to start off with a massive positive this week. Wiltshire class performed as part of a huge choir at the Royal Albert Hall on Tuesday 27th June. They were energetic and enthusiastic participants in Music Makes Me which told the story of a day in the life of Aisha, a neurodivergent young lady negotiating the challenges of school and work experience in London. All of the students sang their hearts out, but there was one stand out performance from Harry Smiles who oozed star quality. It was a joyous and triumphant evening and the performers got a raucous reception. I thought the audience were going to roar the roof of the Royal Albert Hall off! These events take a lot of planning and the students have been rehearsing with focus and determination for weeks under the expert guidance of Hayley Bennett. For the second week in a row, I can report that I am a very proud Head Teacher.

Thank you to all 23 parents who have already submitted the Parent Survey online. I urge more of you to do so! Here is the link again; <https://forms.office.com/e/2PqrUn6hZs>. It would be great to get 100 responses to make the data meaningful. I am extending the deadline for responses to Monday 10th July when many of you will be attending a parental consultation in school. As you know, Monday 10th July is an INSET day, but we are using the time to meet with parents to discuss the school year and talk about staffing and groupings for next year. Paper copies of the survey will be available for you to complete on that day if you prefer old-fashioned ways!

As I have already communicated in previous newsletters, the NEU are striking on Wednesday 5th July and Friday 7th July. The vast majority of our teaching staff support the strikes and as a result, school will be closed to ALL students on both these days. I apologise for the disruption and understand that this may cause your family some inconvenience. Staff will ensure homework is set so learners have some activities to keep themselves occupied.

Yours sincerely,

Alan Campbell, Head Teacher
